During the 2004-2005 school year, Middlebury College has faced a lot of change. After thirteen years of presidency, President John McCardell stepped down from his position at the end of last year and in his place is our 16th President, Ron Liebowitz. Besides a new president students returned to campus this year to a brand new library and Atwater dormitories and at the start of spring term, a brand new dining hall. In addition to these changes, many milestones were met this year. Both Hillel and the Men's Soccer program celebrated 50 years while The Middlebury Campus celebrated 100 years of publication. The Mamajamas celebrated 10 years while Stuck in the Middle graduated its first seniors this year.

At the beginning of this year, as our staff was trying to think of a theme for this year's book, we decided that a theme of Metamorphosis would be perfect. Metamorphosis, the idea of change and transformation, was ideal theme to tie this book together as so many aspects of Middlebury have been affected by change this year and recent years past.

The Middlebury College campus has changed significantly over the years. From Painter Hall, Middlebury's oldest building completed in 1815, to the new Library, Atwater dormitories and Atwater dining hall, the campus has been a place of constant growth and transition over the last 205 years.

May Belle Chellis was the first female to graduate from Middlebury in 1886. From the time of her entry into the 1950's, the Middlebury campus was split in two. Males were located to the left of College Street, while the women were located to the right. That's a far cry from the co-ed halls we have today.

Fletcher Field House once stood where the infamous "bubble" is currently located. Due to a severely dilapidating roof, it was torn down. Eventually, a new permanent structure will be erected on the site.

Over the years buildings have not just come and gone, but their uses have continued to change as well. McCullough once housed a gymnasium where the Social Space is now located, a swimming pool where the Grille now is, and the Crest Room was the student snack bar. Many of the old Fraternity houses now serve as office buildings such as Meeker, Mumford, and the Parton Health Center.

Sports have always been a huge tradition at Middlebury, with teams such as Football developing in the 1800's. Middlebury students have always been known for their academic excellence, but over the years they have proving more and more that Middlebury is also a powerhouse for sports. Since 1994, Middlebury has capturesd 24 NCAA titles, seven alone in the past two years. After picking up their sixth national title last year, the men's hockey team became the winningest men's hockey team in any NCAA division. Capturing their seventh title this winter only extended that record even further. This year marked another milestone for Middlebury sports as the men's soccer team celebrated their fiftieth year of existence at Middlebury.

Curt '00, Ryan '98, amd Scott '01 Goldman hold up the NCAA D III Men's Hockey Trophy shared by the three of them. Curt and Scott would go on to captain the team during their senior years.

You may all be familiar with Coach Bill Beaney as the head coach of the Men's Hockey team, but back in the 80's, he was also the head coach of the Women's Soccer team. He's pictured here with one of his soccer players during the 1988 season.

These are the members of Hillel in 1956 during their second year as a campus organization. In 1956, they would hold bimonthly services at UVM.

Organizations have been a part of Middlebury College for a long time. While some have remained essentially the same over the years, many have changed. This year The Middlebury Campus celebrates 100 years of publication while Hillel celebrates their fiftieth year at Middlebury. The Middlebury Kaleidoscope has been existence for over 100 years! Looking through old yearbooks, one very noticeable change is the presence of the Greek system on campus. Around the turn of the century, nearly every student was a part of one house on campus. While John McCardell was President, he replaced the fraternity/soroity system with the current social house system. As of this year, there are only five social houses on campus. We have discovered in old yearbooks the existence at various times of a Middlebury archery club, men's volleyball club, a flying club, Black Panther Jazz Group and many more intriguing organizations.

A writer for The Campus types up her article in 1960. Thank goodness for Macs and PCs!

The Vagina Monologues

February 14th is V-Day

An annual tradition for the past several years, Middlebury students have performed Eve Ensler's ('75) award-winning play "The Vagina Monologues" on Valentine's Day. V-Day stands for Valentine, Victory, and of course, Vagina. The proceeds from this year's production as well as the proceeds from a silent auction of student and local artwork went to the non-profit group Women's Safe, a group dedicated to ending domestic violence.

The play itself is based on over 200 interviews Eve Ensler conducted in which she asked women about their memories and experiences of sexuality. "The Vagina Monologues was directed by Eliza Hulme '05, and Rebecca Kanengiser '05.5.

Angels Award nominees from the class of 2007

The Four Angels Awards commemorates the legacy of four Middlebury students from the class of 2003 who were killed in a tragic car accident during their first year. The award is typically given to a sophmore woman of color who exemplifies academic excellence as well as leadership and enthusiasm. This year's award winner was Priscilla Sinclair, and the ceremony included readings by close friends of the four Angels as well as a performance by Francois Clemmons.

Poverty Symposium

"The Many Faces of Poverty"

March 5-12th, 2005

This symposium was organized by six students in collaboration with Middlebury's Alliance for Civic Engagement to explore the implications of poverty at the global, national, and local level. The symposium also corresponds with the establishment of an interdisciplinary minor in poverty studies. Events were organized with the hope of offering diverse perspectives on poverty. Examples of events included a Hunger Banquet held at Ross Dining Hall in which participants were given personas of different statuses to feel the effects of poverty, panel discussions, screenings, and lectures. The symposium culminated in a day of student community service projects.

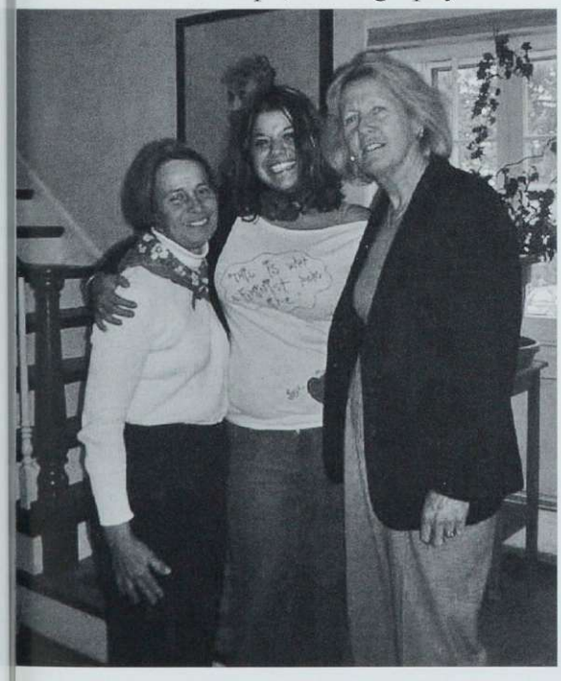
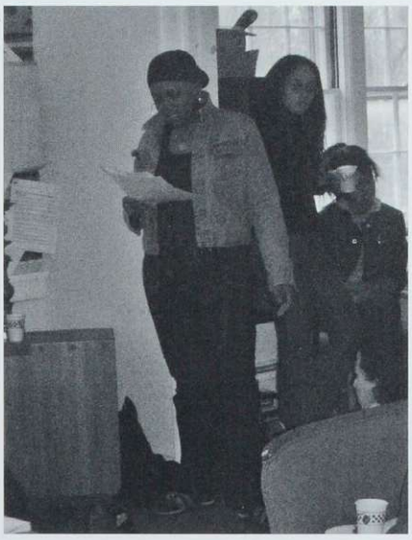
Feminist of the Year Awards

The student feminist of the year was Lauren Curatolo. She was honored for her work as the president of Feminist Action of Middlebury (FAM), for bringing blue lights to campus and for organizing the first FAM symposium ever: "Art as Activism: Exploring the Intersection of Rape, Pornography and Violence."

The faculty feminist of the year was Gail D. Smith, Associate Director of Athletics. She was the driving force behind the Sister-to-Sister Summit for middle school girls from Addison County on February 19. She led a winter-term internship for four students, who designed the summit.

The staff feminist of the year was LIS analyst Liane Barrera. She help with Sister-to-Sister all during January on a voluntary basis.





The "Chellebration" took place on May 9. We had poetry readings by Carlos Beato and Christine Etienne and a musical performance by Charlotte Carlson.

With a pre-season tour of Southern England under their belt, the Middlebury Men's Soccer team entered their 50th year of varsity soccer optimistic and well prepared. Early results were favorable with Captain, Joh Rusten '05 leading the team from his important midfield position. Up front, Kellan Florio and 1st year student David Larocca were scoring important go while Craig Hirsch in goal kept the defense organized and water-tight. Dere Cece '06 had a magnificent year, playing in the middle of the back four and transfer student Billy Brennan had an excellent start to his Middlebury care

There were many memorable matches but two in particular stand out. The first was on Homecoming weekend against Amherst College. This had been designated as the big celebration of 50 years of Middlebury soccer and in front of over 30 Alumni and many others, Middlebury fell behind 0-2 with just 30 minutes to go. In an emotional and nerve wracking comeback, the Panthers scored a goal with just 30 seconds to go the tie the match and then NESCAC Rookie of the Year, David Larocca, scored the winner in sudden death overtime.

As memorable as this was, the team managed an even more improbable comeback against Tufts in the NESCAC playoffs. With just 16 minutes left in the match, Middlebury were 0-3 down and all seemed lost. However, thanks to a 'never say die' attitude, Middlebury staged one of the greatest comebacks in the programs history, winning the match 4-3 in sudden death overtime.

The team ended 12-3-2 loosing 0-1 in the NESCAC final, but John Rusten was named All American and All New England, while Derek Cece was named All New England.

I'm enormously proud of our success and its the farthest we've gone in the four years I've been at Middlebury. It is also far and away the best record the program has ever had. To go undefeated against every NESCAC foe (technically true because the NESCAC penalty this fall against Williams is counted as a tie by NCAA, which is why we were seeded above them for the tournament) is an amazing feat. I've been on teams that were just as talented at this school before, but none that were such complete teams insofar as depth in skill and contribution, and the unmistakable comaraderie our team possessed. It came from a genuine care and respect for one another and our coaching staff. We had fun together, worked hard and so met with great success. The loss to Wheaton was an absolute heartbreaker, to have a deadlocked game snatched away in the waning moments. But I think it's remarkable that we got as far as we did considering how many injuries depleted our ranks. I believe that our back line is by far the best in the NESCAC (and is not thinned at all by graduation, as aside note), and our two defensemen who've been named All-NESCAC, Christine Bolger and Caitlin Fabian, are going to have serious knee surgeries this Christmas break and multiple-month recoveries. It is a great testament to the girls on the sidelines who stepped into those roles and filled them brilliantly that we still got the farthest the program ever has and lost in such a tight contest regardless. As well, the loss of former Idaho high school State Player (1 named to each state each year) forwards Erin Pittenger and Annie Lloyd, one to a broken foot and another to serious knee injury, put a lot on the shoulders of our three remaining strikers. One senior captain, Mayo Fujii, had to take more than 2 weeks at the end of the season for a miniscus injury, and yet she rehabed and came back as a huge impact player for the Wheaton game, integral in the goal that we scored. I could go on about the contributions of each member of this team, but the point is that this is a talented bunch of women who are passionate about and dedicated to soccer and who the school will see even greater things from in future seasons. It was everything I could've asked for and more to have experienced this season as my senior year.

Starting the season having lost five strong seniors, a lot of people didn't expect us to make it back to the NCAA Final Four this year. Before the season even started, the returnees spent ten days training, touring, and laughing together in Europe. We arrived at Midd in September and all our hard work both on the trip and over the course of the summer certainly paid off. We finished a second consecutive regular season with a perfect 14-0 record, and were thrilled to get an at-large bid to host the NCAA regional after dropping a tight NESCAC championship game in overtime. As the #3 seed in the tournament, we advanced to the Final Four and upset #2 Messiah in a semifinal game that was undoubtedly our best performance of the season. Unfortunately things didn't go our way in a rematch of the 2003 championship game against Salisbury, but we wouldn't trade all the fun, memories, relationships, and unbelievable hockey that we've shared with this amazing group of players.

Men's & Women's Golf

The Middlebury Golf Team experienced a roller coaster season. In the Fall, the Middlebury team was inconsistent and failed to play a full 36-hole tournament up to its ability. Team highlights include a 4th place finish in Middlebury's 25-team Duke Nelson Invitational and a 16th place finish out of 46 teams at the Division I, II, and III New England Golf Tournament held on Cape Cod. At New England's, Middlebury's #1, Chad Bellmare '07, secured a spot on the All-DIII New England Team with a score of 155 (79-76) in wet and blustery conditions. However, the best 36-hole score during the Fall campaign was Freshman George Baumann's 153 (78-75) at Hamilton's Shenendoah Invitational held at Turning Stone Casino in New York.

After a spring break trip to the Pinehurst, North Carolina, where the team was lucky enough to hone their skills on world-class courses, the Middlebury team had a much improved Spring season. The highlight of the season was Middlebury's 5th place finish at the District One Shootout where the top 12 teams in New England are invited to compete each year at Williams' famed Taconic Golf Club. Mitch St. Peter '06.5 led the effort at Williams with a 152 (77-75) while Jay Yonamine '07 held the first-round lead after a even par 71. Bellmare, however, bettered St. Peter with a 151 (74-77) at Skidmore's Palamountain Invitational for the best 36-hole score of Middlebury's season and finished the 2004-2005 campaign with a 78.8 scoring average.

Golf looks forward to next year and a shot at qualifying for the highly competitive NCAA tournament.

Men's Rugby

he 2004 season marked another 'rebuilding year' that turned out to be uch more for the Middlebury College Rugby Club. True to form, the liddlebury men again fielded a quick dominant backline and a tough, itty forward pack; despite injuries, they charged undefeated through e regular season, winning their 7th consecutive conference title. After tough loss to Yale in the New England semi-final, Middlebury bounced ck to defeat Colby and earn a berth in the Northeast Territorial ayoffs.

eating Iona in the quarterfinals, on a day that featured a surprise opkick by MVP 'Dutch' Rob Hiensch, Middlebury went on to shutout rrenial rival Yale 10-0 in the Territorial semi-finals at UMass Amherst. ue to a snowed-out first day, the ruggers would play Coast Guard later at day in the Sweet 16 of the Division II National Tournement. After commanding first half performance, the long day began to take its toll. oth teams competed with skill and toughness, but Middlebury finally owed to Coast Guard, 10-13.

ruggers represented Middlebury on the Vermont Select Side this spring: raig Wilson, Rob Hiensch, Colby Hewitt, Matt Volz, and Jimmy anyuru. Manyuru earned honors as Scrum MVP, and he has been med to the Northeast All-Star Team for a chance to tryout for the All- merican Team.

Men's Cross Country

The men's cross country team was led by senior co-captains NIck Digani and Jon Erwin. The top runner on the team was Garrott Kuzzy who earned All-NESCAC honors and was the first individual male runner to advance to the NCAA Championship since 1991. The men's team recorded their second best finish in the program's history finishing 7th in the NCAA Regional. The DenHartog Most Valuable runner award went to Garrott Kuzzy and the Most Improved award went to Jon Erwin. All-New England honors went to Garrott Kuzzy.

The men's team had a very successful season this year. The focus of this past fall was to continue the improvement that the team had made over t last few seasons; more specifically, we wanted to focus on the big meets at the end of the season…particularly the NESCAC conference meet and Regionals. All around there was much improvement from last year's performances, with respect to overall team and individual performance. We had some recruits come in this year that immediately made a huge impact on the team, as well as some upperclassmen who worked hard ov the summer to really bring down their times.

The highlight of the year was our performance at Regionals, where we placed seventh overall out of a total of 39 teams, and fifth for NESCAC teams. This finish was the second best in Middlebury history. Moreover we had one individual qualify for NCAA's (a feat that had not been accomplished by a Middlebury male runner in over 10 years), which was also very exciting. We are confident that next year's team w continue to improve on the wonderful accomplishments that we achieve this year.

s season was a challenging one due to the fact that our rival, Williams, had a very strong, ng team. Nevertheless, we faced the challenge and ended our season strong. Our team is so e and we have a variety of people with a variety of different abilities in running. But we all tribute our strengths to the betterment of the team.The best part of xc here is that the men's women's teams are so close. We share the two coaches, Nicole Wilkerson and Terry Aldrich; re able to spend each day at practice together, simultaneously strengthening our bodies and friendships with one another. I truly believe that this is the reason why we are so successful.
all support one another out there in practice and in races, for we know that those with whom run each day are partly responsible for our personal improvements in this amazing sport.

The 2004/2005 season was filled with lots of great accomplishments for the team and many individuals on the team. Accolades were numerous and included achievements such as two national champions in individual events (Marika Ross: 200 fly and Tessa Truex: 1-meter diving), 5 individuals winning one or more NESCAC Championship events (Sara Cowie, Marika Ross, Tim Lux, Rob Collier, & David Hawkins), 16 new varsity records, as well as both NESCAC Diving Coach and Swimming Coach of the Year honors. While the men experienced their first losing dual-meet record (3-5) in history which include their first-ever dual meet victory over Amherst, their commitment, work ethic, and enthusiasm all paid off at the Conference Championships with a second place finish behind perennial champions Williams College. The women continue to make their mark nationally with a second consecutive 9th place finish.

The Alpine Ski Team coming off one of their most successful seasons ever in 2003/04 did not disappoint this season. The season culminated with a victory at the EISA championship in our own Middlebury carnival.

There were many highlights to a season which featured bright spots from first years and veteran skiers a like. Senior All American John Rusten wrapped up a splendid college career with a silver and 4th place finish at the NCAA's which were held at Stowe Vt. He was joined on the podium at NCAA's with first year sensation Megan Hughes who took home the gold in the Slalom, one of multiple wins for the freshmen from Killington Vermont who was also the first American finisher in 4th place at the world University Games in Innsbruck Austria. Joining Megan and John on the All East team this year were sophomores Tara Martin, Lindsey Brush and first year Clayton Reed. Each of these skiers had top 3 finishes in carnivals in 2004/05. In addition we had great depth with first year Krissy Poehling, sophomore Andrew Everett, and senior Jess Smith all racing to top five finishes in carnivals.

As a whole the Alpine team exhibited that hard work, great attitudes, and unmatched training facilities here at Middlebury are the recipe for success. Congrats on a great season!

he women's ice hockey team had a successful season for 004-2005. After winning the NCAA Title last season they ad a number of solid returners as well as 10 freshman oming in to join the squad. After returning from Christmas eak the team flew out to Wisconsin and Minnesota, where ey handled the competition. Although one game went into vertime they came home with a 3-0 record for out west. The ason rolled on and the playoffs had begun. The NESCAC nal Four was held at Bowdoin, where Middlebury took the hampionship. Emily Quizon was named NESCAC Player the Year. She also appeared in the January 31st issue of orts Illustrated in the "Faces in the Crowd" section. Quizon, rna Gifis, Kate Kogut and Emily McNamara were named st team All-NESCAC while Shannon Tarrant was named econd team All-NESCAC. With the win at Bowdoin the rls advanced to the NCAA Tournament. After an overtime n over Manhattenville the girls advanced to the Final our, hosted by Elmira. Middlebury defeated Elmira 4-3, nning back to back NCAA Championships. Quizon, Kogut ad McNamara were named to the All-Tournament Team. uizon was also named First Team All-American while Gifis ad Tarrant were named Second Team All-American. Bill landigo, the head coach, became the all time leader in wins mong any NCAA women's coach, including all divisions, nen the team beat Colby at home in February. He was then med NCAA Coach of the Year, for the second consecutive ar. The Middlebury omen's hockey team joyed a great year and is oking forward to next ason.

The 2004-2005 Middlebury women's tennis team experienced unprecedented success as the tennis team was the best in school history, finishing at #4 in the national rankings. The team went undefeated in the fall season in dual match play and won the season ending NEWITT championships. The team entered the spring season ranked 7th nationally. In the spring, the team's only losses were at the hands of Emory (#1 in nation) and Amherst (#2 in nation). The team travelled to Los Angeles for Spring Break and beat Depauw (#6 in nation), Pomona and Connecticut College. At the end of the spring, Amy Roche won the coveted A flight of the NESCAC singles championships. The post season was very exciting for the team. After winning the NCAA regional in fine fashion with two shutout wins over Vassar and Williams, the team headed for their first elite eight NCAA finals appearance ever in Kalamazoo, Michigan. The team then had a dramatic 5-4 win over Gustavus Adolphus of Minnesota to reach its first ever Final Four. With matches tied at 4-4, Jackie Ross was in the pressure cooker up a set and looking at 2 match points at 6-4 in the second set tiebreak. Her opponent fought back to take the second set, but Jackie composed herself to dominate the third set 6-1 and win the match.

Against Washington and Lee in the Final Four, the am exceeded all expectations by sweeping the doubles matches. nfortunately, that wasn't the end of the sweeping as W and L me back to take five singles matches and the match, 5-3. In the nsolation match, the team faced a familiar opponent in Amherst, but espite playing better than ever against the Lord Jeffs, the team went wn 5-4 after another deciding third set, this time between Amanda erck and Amherst's Kristin Raverta didn't go Middlebury's way.

In the national individual tournament in Michigan, Middlebury gain put on an unprecedented performance. Amy Roche won r round of 32 match against the #1 from Claremont 6-3,6-1, and llowed it up by destroying the #1 player from the #1 team in the untry, Carina Alberelli from Emory, 6-0,6-1. Amy finally fell in the arters to Liz Bondi from Depauw, 6-1, 6-1. In the doubles, Jackie oss and Claire Smyser capped off a great week (highlighted by eating the #1 team in the nation from W and L) by beating the #4 eded team from UC-Santa Cruz in the round of 16. Unfortunately, espite beating them in the team match, they went down in straight ts to the eventual champions from Gustavus Adolphus in the arters. Amy, Jackie and Claire are all All-American for their rformance at the individual championships

Baseball

The 2005 baseball season was a challenging one. 28 games were played and 14 won and 14 lost. Ten games were played in Florida and the rest in New England. We were better than our record indicates but that is why you play the games. The team was extremely talented as teams go. Weather was and will always be a factor effecting our baseball season.

The 'boys of spring' will be back at it next year and they will probably be a talented group too. We will miss our seniors but they have left their mark. "Maybe next spring".

This season was about taking the goals we used to think of as hopes and turning them into expectations. It was about realizing that the success of the previous year wasn't just a lucky fluke, but rather the beginning of a new phase in the softball program at Middlebury. Every single day, whether it brought a pre-season indoor workout or a NESCAC playoff game, became a chance to exercise our new confidence, to intensify our dedication and to just plain love being together. This season included a winning record, conference statistics leaders and a championship berth, but that's not really what it was about. It had a lot more to do with head-first dives in the dirt, extra batting practice after dark, bus aisle dance parties, dining hall ice cream towers and first practices in the sunshine. It was about realizing that seventeen girls, no matter how different, can become best friends when they love a game this much.

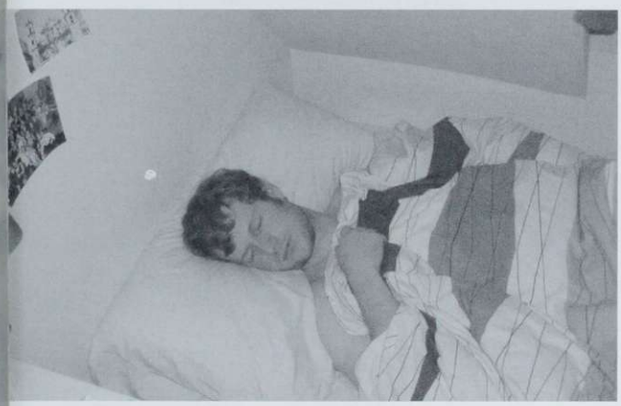
KDR



2005 has been a very exciting year for Kappa Delta Rho. KDR was the alpha chapter of its fraternity, founded in Painter Hall in 1905. This year is our 100th Anniversary and we had a Centennial Celebration sponsered by our alumni during the weekend usually reserved for Pig Roast.

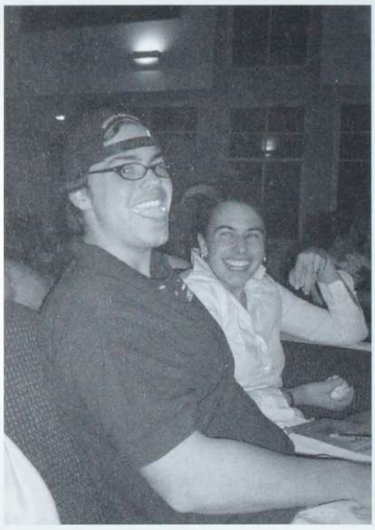
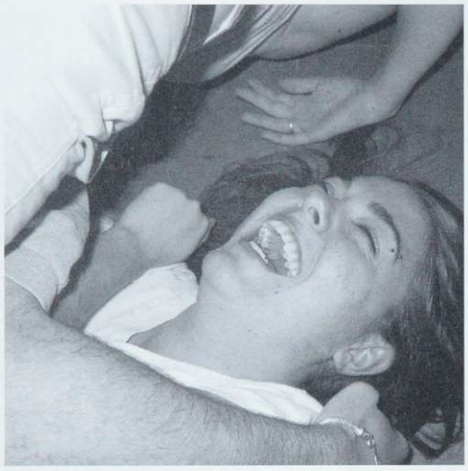
Tavern



This fall, Tavern fell under the leadership of President Cassie Crawford and VP Kris Burfitt whose strong work and dedication to progress kept Omega Alpha on top of the social house scene. Specifically, Kris Burfitt's tireless work on the IHC helped to develop a Freshman Rush Bill, which would allow second semester freshmen to pledge the social houses. With the onset of the cold weather came the changing of the guard as Cassie and Burf passed their jobs onto President Andrew (Lunchbox) Barriger and Tony (TP the VP) Piacenza. Our new leaders have been successful in running the house over J-term and the spring semester and we look forward to their continued efforts next fall.



Our house has welcomed quite a few new members this year under the tutelage of pledge educator Brooke Medley, and consequently Omega Alpha is now the second largest social house at Middlebury. Tavern has hosted many successful parties this year, solidifying its position at the forefront of Midd's social scene. Additionally, the membership as a whole has reached out to the community by participating in service projects such as the Relay for Life, which raised a substantial amount of money and awareness for cancer research. As the year draws to an end, the members of Tavern wish their seniors the best on their journeys and look forward to returning to the house in the fall.

Weybridge House

This year we've been very busy at Weybridge House. We've made a number of capital improvements, including a sauna, a treehouse/ perch, and an Exploratorium: where we share, develop, and grapple with our ideas. We create a mural on the 2nd-3rd floor stairwell featuring "The Tale at Gazpacho Bluffs". Recently, we inadvertently expanded the size of our garden after digging a mud bath in the front yard.

The Fall brough a number of squatters with whom we shared our house and food. Allison Bigelow wins the longest stay award; Suena and Heather win the coolest dog award; Galleton wins the sexiest-in-a-mysterious-way-owners award. John Gutierrez takes home the prize for soundest sleeper, and Elliot was the most wholesome. A shout out to Sid, who never spent the night, but boy did we wish he would.

Throughout the year, we served up dinner to over 300 students and other guests at our nightly dinners. At our pre-Halloween Rocktoberfest Feast, Snake Mountain Bluegrass kept it as tight as our J-term 'Bring a Weybridge Virgin' Feast. In the Spring, our main events included a guest speaker series, an Environmental Mini-Grant project for drying racks in the Commons, and co-sponsorship of the FEED festival.

We're always looking for new ways to invest in the local economy and ourselves. As dirty hippies, we realize the importanc of soap, and have begun purchasing ours from the Middlebury-based Vermont Soap Company. Other gastronomic expansions and endeavors include home-brewed soda pop, recovered poached moose meat, and roadkill pheasant.
Conclusion: LOVE AND RESPECT!

Brainerd organized great programming this year, from the trip to see the Montreal Expos in September to the Spring Fling barbeque in May. With regular on-campus student performers, tickets to concerts by renowned musicians at the CFA, special election-year events, and lots of dinners, Brainerd kept its students entertained, active, and well-fed and watered all year long.

Brainerd is without a doubt the most musical commons. Student concerts by Slotter Creek, British Thermal Unit, Shari Poons, and others lit up the weekends in Palmer house. At the Coffee House in October, students including Jeff Stauch and Ryan Dunn-Komeh wowed us with their individual musical talent. Thanks to the Nelsons, our wonderful faculty heads, we were able to offer tickets to the Middlebury Performing Arts Series at the CFA, with such prestigious concerts as the Tackás String Quartet and the pianist Paul Lewis. And to round out the year, this spring, with ALC, Brainerd co-sponsored an incredible and energetic show by the spoken word poet from the Bronx "La Bruja."

What is music without a little dancing? Brainerd danced the night away on many occasions in 2004 - 2005. Starting with the famous 80s dance for the first-years, the fun continued in J-term at the City Lights winter semi-formal. This spring, we coordinated with Wonnacott to take over Proctor road with a picnic and music by Larson.

This was an unusually political year for the commons, as well. In preparation for the Presidential elections, Brainerd fired up student political involvement by hosting a talk with Middlebury's resident American politics savant Eric Davis and by co-sponsoring the Election Night at the Grille. Brainerd also co-sponsored the Dialogues for Peace symposium on the Bosnian conflict.

Finally, no one in Brainerd went hungry (or thirsty) this year. From our many barbeques to weekly BuRP dinners to a bountiful Thanksgiving feast, Brainerd students enjoyed good company and home-cooked meals. Thanks to our chef extraordinaire Luke Strauss, we had six-layer cakes, heaps of warm scones, and exquisite BAM dinners of lamb and rosemary raspberry steak in McKinley house. For our seniors, a cocktail party in the fall and a Champagne brunch to celebrate commencement helped the year flow by.
Many thanks to the Brainerd Commons Council, faculty, and staff for organizing so many fun events this year. See you again in the fall!

One word that describes this year's Cook Commons res-life staff is "bliss". Originally conceived in locations as far as Kenya, Alaska and everything in-between, the 2005-2006 council, lead by Tri-Chairs Ben Bruno, Lauren Young and Andrew Bermudez, planned and conducted numerous successful events this year. The traditional Fall Festival rang in the new school year with tasty caramel apples, a cake walk, a pie eating contest won by freshman Jake Cohen, and of course pumpkin carving, face painting and a wide range of crafts. Later in the fall, Cyn Hernandez planned our first Bohemian-themed coffeehouse, which transformed Pearson's lounge into a complete café with waitstaff. Students could enjoy their wide selection of cookies and coffee, while reading a book by the roaring fireplace, playing a game of Scrabble with their friends, or simply enjoying the live music.

J-term, busy and action-packed as usual, featured a "Mardi Gras-Carnival" themed prom. Students and faculty trudged, slipped and skidded through the snow using all methods of transportation so they could strut their "loud" outfits and exotic masks at the ball. The dance was followed by the 3rd annual Cook vs. Ross Iron Chef Competition. Jay Yonamine, the defending Cook champion successfully concocted tasty morsels using this year's secret ingredient, mushrooms; however, it was not enough to defeat this year's champion from Ross, Scott Kleiman. The judges' palates were clearly not as refined as those from previous years. This year Cook's "Midd Kid for a Day", an event that draws middle-schoolers from rural areas of Vermont to preview college life, took place successfully under the direction of Scott Palmer.

Spring brought more coffee houses, an exciting game of Assassins for Charity, a Special Olympics Dance coordinated by the lovely Jo Opot, a Sexual Violence and Awareness Talk arranged by Katie Kern, and a river rafting adventure planned by Andrew May. Cook went out with a bang this year by hosting a Toxic Party in LoFo, keeping with our Britney Spears themed dances. Britney went Derelicte and the basement of Forest was filled with crazy decorations, glowing people, and hot jams. Cook has had quite the successful year and has truly lived up to its motto of "pleasure and intelligence".

Commons

We had a successful year in Ross Commons. Whether we were throwing a Halloween Party with Trick-or-Treating in the dorms for Faculty Affiliates' children or Decorating the Town for the holidays, we had a strong focus on community involvement. The Martin Luther King Junior Prayer Breakfast was a hit as always with an even larger turnout than ever before. We hosted the Hunger Banquet in Ross Dining. The event raised awareness of the unequal distribution of food across the globe. Also involving food...the Lord of the Rings event in J-term drew a good crowd...we even ate a Midieval Dinner with no utensils! We threw two rockin' parties in the dining hall and even sent one student to the Carribean! Overall the Commons Council provided lots of oportunities for Ross residents to have a great time!

We had so many hopes for you when we left you standing outside Battell, 18 years old and 3,000 miles from home... the expansion of your mind and your heart, new people, new flavors, a new land, adventures, challenges, risks, friendships, study abroad, a great softball season. It has all happened, and then some!

We've always been so proud of you for your many accomplishments, for your dedication and hard work, for your kind and caring heart, for your ability to make people feel better just by being around you. We know you'll go out there, like Miss Rumphius, and make the world a more beautiful place. Remember to have weekly adventures, remember to have some fun out there. And welcome Home.

The Kaleidoscope was fortunate this year to have an increased staff from the year before allowing us to complete and distribute the book earlier in the fall. I would like to thank all of my staff for their hard work. Thank you for being patient as we switched over to a new program this year. I would also like to thank The Campus photographers for all of their wonderful photos that they allowed us to use in order to make this book possible, especially Photo Editor Julia Randall who took the time to gather the photos together for us. Thank you also to Danielle Rougeau in Special Collections in LIS who took the time to scan in nearly a hundred old photos for us to use at the beginning of each section. A special thanks to everyone who answered our requests for photo and name submissions, write ups, etc. especially Brad Nadeau and the members of the senior class who put up with my constant e-mails requesting study abroad and senior photos! The Kaleidoscope staff would also like to thank our advisor Charlotte Chase as well as Tammy Grant, Doug Adams, and Derek Doucet of the CCAL office for their constant support and guidence and to Matt Clark, Michael Wood, our Josten Publishing Representatives and Christina Ripka, our plant consultant for their help and patience with a young staff. Thank you also to all of our patrons and sponsors for whose added financial support made this book possible.
